The movement of Italian troops is increasing rapidly.

BIG LOT OF DRAINAGE
WORK IN UPPER VALLEY

Berino, N. M., July 21.—Dredging machine No. 3 which has been working on the Anthony drain through this part of the valley for a number of months, has been removed from the work and is being loaded out this week to be shipped down from the north end of the valley to continue this work.

Considerable work has been accomplished by the reclamation service as the last report shows a total of 168,000 cubic yards excavated by the government machines working one shift each. Up to date 170 miles of deep open drains have been constructed.

A new bridge has just been constructed over the drainage canal west of here where it cut through the main road.

APACHE MINING
DISTRICT ACTIVE

Chloride, N. M., July 21.—The Apache mining district has three producing properties, all brought in since spring.

The Colossal, operated by Albuquerque capital, has made a shipment to the El Paso smelter. The former manager, J. E. Vassar, has been succeeded by Harry E. Weir, an experienced mining man, who took charge a few weeks ago and immediately brought the property to production.

The Colossal Mines company is now putting in air drill equipment and a small experimental mill. This machinery is now being hauled in by the big company truck.

The Midnight made a shipment of ore from Engle last week and the Silver Metals company is shipping this week. Rumors are persistent that this property has made a big strike at a greater depth than any working in the district. The Silver Mountain shipment is said to be the largest made from the district in many years.

Dry Season Slows Output.
The unprecedented dry season in the mountains has caused a slowing up of production. Not being prepared with a proper well or pumps the Silver Mountain mill has been down for some weeks. The mine has not been working for a week awaiting the arrival of compressor parts. These repairs are being made in El Paso.

After a shot close down the Midnight is again active. A mill is to be erected at once and at the same time development will proceed in the mine. This property is said to show every promise of being a big one.

Some very valuable float was picked up by the Silver Mountain Metals company's road building crew, the floods having brought it down into the canyon road. This is believed to be from claims along the rim of the canyon, owned by El Paso and Albuquerque men. These properties are not now being worked, but it is reported development will be started before late fall.

Road Improvements Help.

The improvements in the government road between here and Engle, will encourage shipments of ore. It is reported that the Midnight and the Silver Mountain companies are negotiating for trucks.

The one thing doing the most to discourage shipments of ore is the uncertainty as to what the railroad company intends to do to Engle. It is announced again, that water is to be cut off there August 1; and shippers can not plan beyond that date until they are reliably informed as to where they can reach the railroad. Shippers can not use any railroad point where water, hotel accommodations, gas, supplies, etc., cannot be obtained.

Give Woman A Hat That Is Becoming;
Dress Her To Match; Result: Peach

MISS KATHRYN LA VELLE
By G. A. MARTIN.

HATS are the crowning glory of a woman," asserted Miss Kathryn LaVelle, of the vaudeville team of Housh & LaVelle, at Vance Fulkerson's Alhambra.

"There is an old saying," she said, "that hair is a woman's growing glory, but this quotation should substitute hats, for a woman must have the proper hat if she would take the place she wishes to take in the admiration of others, her own sex as well as those of the weaker sex, as the suffragists now speak of the men. A hat lasses up a woman's appearance quicker than anything."

"Hats are my hobby and if I can't carry anything in my wardrobe except hats, I'll have my hats. Eve may not have had many clothes—but she didn't say—but she had a shady park and didn't need a hat. We have more sun now. Hats are necessary now and they should be attractive."

"A woman should wear a hat that becomes her. Every woman can pick some sort of a hat that suits her temperament and her style. The right sort of a hat enhances the beauty of any woman."

"There are types that just must have a big picture hat to show them off properly; many women of this type look like a fine line at an auto show in a small hat. But the dress must be in keeping with the hat, for some dresses won't go with a big hat."

"My idea is that a woman should choose her hat first, then her dress, and if she makes the proper choice of the hat and gets the dress to match, she will be properly fitted. I always start at the head and work down in fitting myself but in clothes."

"The same applies to the woman who can wear a small hat becomingly. Many women cannot wear such a hat and look well. They may think they do, but a monkey strut around so you imagine he thinks the same way. A lot of women look just about as attractive in little hats as the man I saw when the earthquake shook the hotel in Los Angeles; evidently he was not wearing a hat, for he rushed to his window with half his beard on and little else."

"I contend that any woman can make herself attractive if she will first see that she has the right sort of a hat. I'd rather spend $40 on a hat and $15 for a fancy jewelry or a Naughty Jane or whatever it is they call a gingham dress, if I only had $55 to spend for a costume, than to reverse it and have to get a hat that did not become me."

"Many people contend that well dressed feet are the most important thing in a woman's wardrobe; that may have been true before they began wearing the dresses cut so near the feet, but men don't notice the feet very much nowadays and women can get away with cheaper shoes. In fact, I fully believe many of them could go barefoot entirely and never be discovered if their sole audience was a male audience."

"This would be particularly true if all women followed the style in hosiery for the street that has been adopted by Miss Violet O'Neil, on the same bill with me, for her stage costumes. I like the style myself, because it is so comfortable in hot weather, but with skirts so tight and street shoes so high, it is hard on the poor men's eyes and out of pity for the creatures, we have not generally embraced short hose for street wear."

"However, I am wandering as the man said when he mistook his wife for someone else and called her beautiful; I am getting away from the subject of hats. I want to tell you my reasons for dressing women's heads so attractively. The principal one is that the more attractively and thoroughly you cover something that is of little use in the world, the better effect you create in the world. Following this line of thought a lot of men's heads should be hidden entirely. I thank you."

London, Eng., July 21.—Premier Lloyd George, addressing the house of commons today, said the Soviet answer to the allies regarding peace with Poland was incoherent, ambiguous and propaganda largely intended for home consumption. So far as he could understand, however, the Soviet indicated its willingness to negotiate direct with Poland.
